GET THE THRIFT STAMP IDEA "NOW"

Postmaster J. M. Blair received a letter from the authorities at Washington encouraging him to take such steps as will bring about a more successful Thrift Stamp campaign as this section has not reached their allotment. Information was received to the effect that we had but 54 cents per capita, while the records show that we should have $5 per capita by April 1.

Postmaster Blair immediately got busy and wrote sixteen letters to different postmasters throughout the county asking them to exert every effort in this direction so that we might be able to make a much better showing. He says however, that some are indeed doing their duty in this worthy cause, but sorry to say that there are others who have not secured their quota.

Below is a copy of a letter received by the postmaster which is self-explanatory:

To Presidents of Stakes and Bishops of Wards.
Dear Brethren:

This will introduce Mr. George T. Odell, a prominent citizen of this State, who has been appointed State Director for Utah on the War Savings Committee and is actively engaged in presenting this important matter to the citizens of this State. He desires the united co-operation of all the people and wishes their moral and financial support in the sale of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates which is a campaign to raise $5,000,000 in Utah and at the same time teaches and encourages thrift which is so vital to the citizens of our community.

We heartily commend him and the project which he presents to your consideration and any assistance you can render him for the accomplishment of the good purpose in view, will receive our cordial commendation.

"Save to buy Baby Bonds to win the war."

Respectfully,

J. T. CAINE, III RECEIVES RECOGNITION

National recognition of Professor John T. Caine, III, director of the Extension Division, Utah Agricultural College, is given in a recent issue of The Country Gentleman, where he is referred to as one of the best authorities on calves and beef cattle today in the United States. The article in which this flattering mention is made is by George Frederick Stratton and is an account of the Live Stock Convention recently held in Salt Lake City.

Director Caine is quoted in regard to the present real situation and his tables showing the wisdom of killing calves for veal under certain conditions are given in full. Mr. Stratton refers to Professor Caine as "an experienced cattleman, born and bred in the West and thoroughly acquainted with all the peculiarities of range and farm feeding, and one of the most popular stock experts who ever crossed a horse or his heart."

In the same article, A. E. Aldous of the Geological Survey, a graduate from the Utah Agricultural College in 1909, is quoted in regard to the new 640 acre homestead law. Mr. Aldous explained what had already been done to list the land that is to come under this Act and showed that certain delays had resulted from insufficient funds.

OGDEN DRAMATIC COMING HERE NEXT WEEK

The pleasure of seeing one of J. M. Barrie's one act comedies is in store for the drama lovers of Logan one week from tonight. On that date the Ogden Dramatic Club is to appear at the Nibley Hall to present a program that will assuredly be a great treat for Logan. A night of a medley of plays is a very rare thing for the amusement going public.

This entertainment will serve two purposes for the public. One of the purposes is to entertain them, and the other is to give them a chance to contribute to the splendid purpose of the Red Cross while they are having such an entertainment. Everybody in town should buy a ticket because the money goes to the Red Cross and each citizen should contribute toward that end whether he expects to see the plays or not.

Dozens of young ladies are soliciting payments on tickets throughout the city. If you have not been called up, call upon the Red Cross. Do your whole duty, not merely your bit.

RED CROSS HOME SERVICE CLASS DOING GOOD WORK

The subjects taken up this far by the Red Cross Home Service Class have been very interesting and instructive. The Committee feel very much gratified at the good attendance throughout, yet they report still a few branches who have not availed themselves of the opportunity of sending representatives to take this work.

Last Monday, we understand, that an explanation and discussion of the field work and use of case records was very enlightening to those present, and very much appreciated.

The government is urging all chapters to see that as many volunteers as can be found to take up this work are given every opportunity to become efficient; that when at last our country's soldiers and sailors return home, their families shall be found to have maintained the essential standards of home life. Nothing less than this will measure up to American ideals. The government is doing its full share to conserve the homes of its fighting men. Relatively speaking, only a few are likely to need the money relief. It has been the least important part in the past. Home Service has demonstrated its ability to conserve human resource in thousands of homes by helping to maintain their good standard of child care, of physical and mental health, of education, and of working conditions in the past.

The short chapter course outlined by the Red Cross, we are told will soon be completed. A desire has been expressed on the part of some to have the work to go farther into the institute subjects, which we are informed may be arranged for later.

From present indications the end of the war is not yet in sight, and we will evidently need the service of these volunteers both before and after the return of our military men as well as in the homes of the whole community. Social work everywhere has received a great impetus and should be encouraged by all.

SERVICES HELD FOR MR. HANSON

Funeral services were held in the Seventh ward meeting house yesterday at 2 o'clock over the remains of Elder N. M. Hanson who died at his residence last Monday evening after a long illness from a cancer. The meeting house was filled with relatives and friends who were desirous of paying a last tribute of respect to Brother Hanson. The floral offerings were indeed beautiful and showed the high esteem the many friends had for the deceased.

The services began by the choir singing, Tho' Deep'ning Trials. Prayer was offered by Elder E. R. Owen. A male quartet, Lead Me Gently Home, was rendered by Messrs. Jas. McMurrin, Carl Farnsworth, Arthur Olson and Charles O. Peterson.

Elder Thoreson was the first speaker, and said that he had been acquainted with Brother Hanson for many years and that he had found him to be noble, true and honest. Thirty-five years ago when he worked in the Ricks Mill it was known near and far that Brother Hanson was an honest miller. He said he had served in the city council with him and he was always for the rights of the people and did all in his power for the future welfare of the city. He always treated his fellow men as he would like to be treated and that is what God requires of men and he will be rewarded on the other side for what he has measured to others. He was a real peace maker and we all must be just and noble to each other. Judge not that ye be not judged, the Lord is the righteous judge and we should leave judgment to him. In my Father's house are many mansions and it is up to us if we gain salvation and eternal happiness. If we do not gain a salvation we will not have a reunion of our families in the hereaf-

FAIR FOR CACHE CO. THIS YEAR

Last year when many of the various fair managements were considering the holding of their fairs, the United States had just entered the war and as a result many fairs were not held. This year the sentiment throughout the country appears to be the reverse and most places which have held fairs in the past are going to have a fair this year. They have come along the proper lines will stimulate production as well as furnishing wholesome recreation for the people.

Last year over 300 towns in Canada took on the Chautauqua because the people demanded wholesome entertainment to relieve their minds of some of the strain. Although Canada had been in the war three years, they needed the Chautauqua or the fairs.

The officers and directors of the Cache County Fair feel that their decision to hold a county fair this year was a good thing and every effort will be put forth to conduct it with the view of stimulating production and giving the people good clean entertainment. The Fair will be held during the latter week in September. Already communications have been received asking for concessions and offering attractions.

The local garden and poultry projects will have their culmination at the Fair where the prizes will be distributed and the boys and girls can show the best they have raised during the summer. If the necessary support can be had, the officers and directors expect to put on the largest fair in the history of the county.

ter. The speaker said that the mother and family were all good people and that they would all meet in the hereafter.

Elder Quayle was the next speaker. He said that Brother Hanson's first home was in the Third ward where he now lived, and he had always known him as an honest man at that he was known in every settlement in the valley and they all had great confidence in him. He was one of the first to start the arrangements for the Logan City light plant and they went through many hardships and opposition. He said he had a good wife and family and he would be a rich man on the other side for he has a good clean family to meet him there.

Arthur Olson sang, I Know My Heavenly Father Knows.

Elder Anthon Eliason said he had known Brother Hanson to be an honest and upright man and encouraged the family to remember their father's good example for he was a man who never found fault with others. He said he was always glad to meet Brother Hanson and talk with him.

Bishop George Lindquist bore testimony to all that was said about Brother Hanson, for he knew he always stood for that which was true for he was an honest man and that is a great deal to be said of anyone. He said that Brother Hanson embraced the gospel in the old country and went through much persecution and he has been true and faithful ever since. He said he believed he loved the truth or he could not have left all that was near and dear to him for the gospel. The speaker said he felt he was a better man for knowing Brother Hanson and that we must all try to live right for we are being watched.

Miss Nora Eliason sang, Home, Sweet Home.

John T. Caine, said he had known Brother Hanson as the other speakers had known him. He said there was never a great man or woman who did not have simple ways, and Brother Hanson was a great man because he lived a simple life. Whatever he had he shared with his friends and neighbors. He said we should not take advantage of a good friend, but there are many who do. Bishop Watkins gave consoling remarks and thanked all for being
